

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

09 | 535836

The object is to pattern extremely fine integrated circuits by forming fine contact holes. The dry etching method is employed to form contact holes to pattern a wiring (114), using a mask made of metallic film (112) and an organic material as an inter-layer insulating film (111) for covering switching elements and each of the wirings.